Online shopping is the latest thing today as is the shopper's 'user experience'. No ecommerce business can sustain itself in this age if it isn't focused on providing the best user experience to the customer through their online shopping site.

A user's experience is one thing that can make or mar an online shopping site. You aren't the only one standing with the freebies; the competition is cut throat and the customer is wise. You can't hide anything so why not show it. Be educative, informative, supportive and proactive.
